The U.S. now accounts for 34% of the world's billionaires. But with new fortunes springing up throughout the developing world, these lists are never static. For the latest on America's wealthiest people, see this year's issue of The Forbes Four Hundred, appearing in October.

*The Air Force has the Stealth.
Music has Sinatra.
Paris has the Eiffel Tower.
We have this.*

*On October 24, 1988, Nissan officially unveiled a new Maxima.* It was designed to be the first automobile to give high-priced European dream sedans a run for their money. It offered size, style, power, grace and two very important things its expensive competition couldn't possibly match: Outstanding reliability and a very reasonable price of entry.*

*The Maxima experienced a meteoric rise to success. Automobile Magazine hailed it "the best $20,000 sedan we've ever driven."** Car and Driver said, "In the international sports-sedan class, we reckon that it's gold-medal material."† It gained a reputation for amazing quality. Made top ten lists. And by 1994, the Maxima had become the best-selling* import car in its class for nine consecutive years.

Now, without further ado, we proudly introduce you to our latest Maxima.

An astonishing automobile that doesn't merely challenge more expensive luxury/performance sedans—it runs rings around them.

To begin with, the new Maxima GXE boasts an amazing V6 engine that generates 30 more standard horsepower (for a grand total of 190 hp) and gets 10% better fuel economy (21 mpg city/28 mpg highway) than its predecessor.†† For those keeping score at home, all this equates to scorching 0-60 times that are faster than a 1994 Acura Legend LS and a Lexus ES 300 while getting gas mileage that's equal to the far less powerful four-cylinder Toyota Camry.††

Our engineers also worked wonders with the suspension. We won't go into great detail, except to say the new Maxima rides quieter and smoother on rough roads than a Lexus ES 300 and can outcorner an Acura Legend LS with relative ease.§

Of the many significant improvements, perhaps the most noticeable is the increased cabin volume. We've added more leg room, shoulder and head room. We've also added touches like woodgrain appointments, an eight-way electronically adjustable driver's seat, and a custom-designed 6-speaker Bose® stereo system on the Maxima GLE, while safety features like dual airbags and high-strength steel pipe beams in the doors have been newly provided as well.

But of all these exceptional achievements, perhaps the most remarkable is that the new Maxima can still be yours for a starting price of under $20,000.*

And that's something that can't be said for the Stealth, Frank Sinatra or that famous tower in Paris. For a free videocassette on the remarkable new Maxima, call us at 1-800-501-4629 or visit your nearest Nissan Dealer.
